When I think of Granny Collins I think of love. From the first time I met her until the last time I visited her I felt love and acceptance. The last time I saw her I was just beginning to tell her who I was and she said well hello Joyce. How are you doing? She always made me feel loved and accepted. She was a great friend of my mother's and supporter of my daddy's. Knowing her and having her as a part of my life and my daughters lives was a blessing and joy. I'm sure she and PawPaw, mother and daddy are have had a great reunion.
